

that is properly applicable to the Tribune, and shall be pleased if you find it satisfactory. * * * The Tribune does not employ compositors at all, but linotype operators. Your organization is one of compositors. The trade is absolutely a different one, and a knowledge of composition is not necessary to become proficient in it. * * * With the single exception of the weekly rate of wages, which is now and has long been in the Tribune as high as or higher than the union scale, there is not a clause in your regulation in the least applicable to the Tribune. I am paying the highest wages going, and I will gladly co-operate with you in maintaining, or even advancing them. With your main object, that of keeping up wages, I am in perfect sympathy. I will gladly enter into the contract you propose to maintain it, and I have suggested no modification that will interfere with it."

The union's proposition, as modified by Mr. Reid, was presented to the union by Mr. Milholland. It was considered at length by the Executive Committee. Not all the members were fully satisfied with it, though at one time its acceptance seemed assured. Finally, however, it was suggested that a new proposition be drawn up on lines indicated by Mr. Milholland. Pending the submission to Mr. Reid of this second proposition, and in view of the spirit of friendliness that he had already displayed, resolutions were unanimously adopted by the committee declaring the Tribune office open to union men, and thanking those outside the union who had assisted in bringing about this better understanding between Mr. Reid and the organization.

THE SETTLEMENT.
Correspondence was resumed, but shortly thereafter Mr. Reid left the French capital, and when he returned he was overwhelmed by the press of official duties arising from his intention soon to resign office. It was therefore mutually agreed that the whole matter should be permitted to rest until he had returned to this country. He arrived in New York last April and gave the matter prompt attention. Mr. John A. Kenney had at this time succeeded to the presidency of the union. The difficulty still remained of adapting the rules of the union to the conditions created by the machine method of composition, but it was finally proposed by the union, at the suggestion of Mr. Robert Costello, of the executive committee, and Mr. William Ferguson, secretary of the organization, that the same plan be adopted which had been successfully employed in settlements with the Indianapolis Journal and other newspapers, that of employing as the foreman of the Tribune office a member of the union in good standing.

The proposition, indorsed by President Kenney and by him formally tendered to Mr. Reid, was promptly accepted. A list of between twenty and twenty-five names of members of the union, qualified to fill the place of foreman, was submitted by President Kenney to Mr. Reid, who, after a careful examination of the qualifications of each person suggested, chose Mr. William J. Brennan, the last president of the union, thereby proving the perfect faith in the organization. Mr. Brennan is now foreman of the Tribune composing room.

ENTIRELY SATISFACTORY.
This honorable settlement is as satisfactory to the union as to Mr. Reid, a fact which was demonstrated by the appearance of a committee representing the union and appointed for that purpose at a regular meeting of the union, at the recent Republican national convention. The action thus taken was entirely voluntary and without any solicitation whatever on Mr. Reid's part. Some individuals have expressed dissatisfaction at the appointment and action of this committee. A part of the dissatisfaction is due to a misunderstanding of the facts of the case, but the greater part arises from a certain element in the union, which, having received political office through Democratic agencies, cares more about the success of the Democratic party than it does for the welfare of its own trade organization. This element is averse to a settlement with the Tribune on any terms, desiring to keep the controversy open for the purpose of making political capital for its party, rather than by ending it forever to secure the true interests of the union and of organized labor generally.

THE OFFICIAL NOTICE.
Following this settlement came the official removal of the boycott which had been placed on the Tribune. This was done at a regular meeting of Typographical Union No. 6, on August 7. A resolution was adopted, says The Union Printer, directing the executive committee to notify all typographical unions and other labor organizations throughout the country that the New York Tribune had been made a union office in good standing, and that the boycott against it existed no longer. In accordance with this direction the executive committee met last evening, and by unanimous vote issued the following:
At the last meeting of the New York Typographical Union No. 6 the executive officers were instructed to notify all sister unions and other labor organizations that the differences heretofore existing between our union and the New York Tribune has been satisfactorily adjusted; that the boycott against that establishment has been declared off, and that all antagonisms of whatever nature, growing out of the famous labor struggle are ended. It gives us pleasure to announce, furthermore, that the Tribune is now a strict union office.

The same issue of The Union Printer in which the above publications appear contains an editorial comment as follows, the italics being ours:

"THE TRIBUNE OWES AT LAST.
"The war is over. The strife of fifteen years is ended at last. The Tribune is ours, a full-fledged member of the union. We congratulate the members of the organization; we congratulate the Tribune. It is a settlement satisfactory to all concerned, and honorable to both sides of the controversy. There has been no backdown nor surrender, but a straightforward, business-like adjustment, such as ought to have been made long ago, and could have been had the matter been approached in the proper spirit—such a spirit as has been employed throughout the negotiations that have just terminated so successfully.

"It is a matter of regret that, through no fault of the union, the terms of this settlement have been outrageously misrepresented, in some instances wilfully, in others innocently, and the union and some of its members have been charged with being parties to a political deal. From perfect knowledge of the facts we assure our friends that there is NO FOUNDATION WHATSOEVER FOR SUCH A CHARGE.

The union had levied a political boycott, side by side with the industrial boycott. The settlement, of course, involved the removal of boycotts. So far, and no further, has politics entered into the matter.

"On another page will be found in connection with the notice of the executive committee, the official statement of the genesis, progress and conclusions of the negotiations. It was prepared by President Kenney, and approved by Mr. Whitelaw Reid. A careful perusal of it will be sufficient, we believe, to convince all fair-minded men that the charges so recklessly made against No. 6 and its officers were utterly baseless."

RECORDS CONTRASTED.
As an evidence of how the Democratic effort to misrepresent Mr. Reid's position has proved a boomerang, and rebounding, has wounded their own candidate for vice president, the following editorial paragraph from The Union Printer is published:

"Mr. Stevenson, the Democratic nominee for vice president, has been for twenty years the president of a coal company in Illinois, and his political friends are now trying to capture the labor vote by claiming that he has never had trouble with labor and there has never been a strike in those mines since he has been at the head of the company. It is easily accounted for. Unorganized labor seldom has the manliness to strike. No union labor has been employed in those mines for twenty years past. In 1873 Stevenson disrupted the miners' union, and since that time no union man has worked in the mines owned by him. Put fresh bait on that hook."

In addition to this, more than ever attention is called to the fact that the leading Mugwump and Democratic newspapers that are supporting Cleveland and Stevenson are themselves "rat" papers and are in bad odor with American workmen, among the most prominent being the Louisville Courier-Journal, the New York Evening Post, the Philadelphia Record and others, all of them rank free trade papers, supporters of Cleveland, and enemies of organized labor.

SHOOTING AFFRAY
In Which Two Men are Slightly Wounded at a Railroad Camp.

Special Correspondence of the Intelligencer.
BESCH BOTTOM, W. VA., August 16.—A shooting affray occurred at Frank H. Blodgett & Co.'s railroad camp near here this evening. "Bub" Wheeler and Smith Bracey were quarreling, when Wheeler drew his pistol and shot at Bracey. The ball grazed Bracey's skin just over the heart. Wheeler then fired at Mr. Spier who was trying to make peace. Bracey, thinking he had received a death wound, pulled his gun and fired five shots at Wheeler, one taking effect in his right thigh. His wound is not fatal. There have been no arrests.

THE AWFUL SCOURGE.

Frightful Ravages Of Cholera in Russia. Thousands of Deaths.

ST. PETERSBURG, August 16.—The total number of new cases of cholera reported in Russia yesterday were 7,600. The total number of deaths from the epidemic were 3,900. These figures represent all the returns received, but two-thirds of the towns attacked have no telegraphic communication with the chief town of the provinces in which they are situated, which towns make daily reports to St. Petersburg.

It will thus be seen that the returns are very incomplete, and that to procure daily reports of the exact number of new cases and deaths is impossible. The known figures, however, show that the disease is causing havoc in many districts. This is particularly the case in districts affected by the famine. Here the peasants, physically impoverished by the scarcity of food when attacked by disease, have no strength to combat it and die with scarcely a struggle.

The cholera is abating at Nijni Novgorod, Astrakhan, and in the Trans-Caspian territory, but the number of deaths continues excessive in the Caucasus, Don provinces, Saratoff, Samara, Simbirsk and Orenberg.

A mob attacked the floating hospital at Starobelsk, in the government of Kharkoff, and completely demolished it. The doctors were assaulted and would probably have been killed had it not been for the intervention of the troops who were summoned to restore order. The soldiers soon suppressed the rioting and arrested the leaders of the rioters.

A Terrible Threat.

TANAGER, August 18.—A Moorish deputation was sent last night to urge the rebel tribesmen to surrender Haman, the leader of the insurgents, alive or dead. If the rebels refuse to surrender their leader the deputation will notify them that the sultan's troops will set fire to their villages and crops, and exterminate those who rebel against his authority. It is not believed that the deputation will succeed in either procuring Haman or in frightening Angheras.

A Turning Point in Catholicism.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The ceremony of investing with the pallium the most Rev. Wm. Vaughan, who succeeded the late Cardinal Manning as archbishop of Westminster, took place in the Brompton oratory to-day.

The Standard declares that a turning point in English Catholicism was reached to-day. The time was, it says, when it would have been impossible for a special delegate of the pope to have ventured into England openly to invest an archbishop with the pallium.

AN OPEN SWITCH

Causes a Frightful Railroad Accident—Six Killed and Many Injured.

CORROTON, O., August 16.—The Toledo, Walhonding Valley & Ohio railway, a branch of the Pennsylvania system now in course of construction, experienced its first horrible mishap last evening, six miles north of here at a point known as Richeson's Gravel Pit. Six human beings were crushed to death and fifteen others terribly injured. The list of killed is as follows: Frank Galli, an Italian, aged 44 years, head crushed; William Rafferty, aged 50, head crushed; John Barry, aged 50, head crushed; Joseph Bycroft, Burlington, Vt., aged 28, body crushed; John Halliges, body crushed, aged 50; John Flynn, aged 25, back broken.

The following are the injured: Frank Hughes, aged thirty-five, head crushed, will die; William O'Toole, Portsmouth, Ohio, aged twenty, injured in abdomen; John Hagans, aged twenty-three, injured head and legs crushed; Pat Connors, Canton, Ohio, aged twenty-eight, injured in head and breast; Martin Ward, Pittsburgh, Pa., aged forty-five, injured hip and back; John Zeigler, aged twenty-three, hurt in head and side; James Riley, aged fifty, contusion of hip; Patrick O'Brien, aged seventy-four, Akron, Ohio, skull fractured, will die; Hugh Morrison, Altoona, Pa., aged forty-six, hurt head and back; Patrick Costello, aged sixty-five, left foot crushed; Morris Collins, aged forty-five, Allegheny City, Pa., terribly burned on the head; John Erickson, aged twenty-eight, foot crushed; Patrick Roach, aged fifty-one, crushed arm and shoulder; Michael Mulrany, aged twenty-five, contusion of shoulder and side; Henry Long, aged forty, leg wrenched.

The cause of the horrible mishap is as follows:

A construction train in charge of Conductor Humphrey and Engineer White has been engaged in hauling gravel from the pit. The killed and wounded were engaged in ballasting the roadway at a point three miles north of the pit. After the last train had been unloaded the men boarded the cars that were being pushed ahead of the engine to come to their boarding camp a few hundred yards south of the gravel pit. The train was running at a hazardous speed, and when it arrived at the gravel pit, which was to be passed without stopping the switch was open and the train entered the siding and collided with some empty cars standing in the pit. The great majority of the workmen were seated on the first and second cars and when the long train turned in upon the spur had no opportunity to jump. Ten of the cars were piled in a mass of debris, and beneath this poor mortals were crushed. It required two hours to extricate some of the dead and injured. When Superintendent Walls was asked for the cause of the accident he said somebody left the switch open.

Another Murder Mystery.

MARIETTA, GA., August 16.—Early this morning the horribly mutilated body of Mrs. Mattie Looney, an aged lady living near here, was found near the house, and the manner of her death is involved in mystery. Police authorities are at work on several theories, but as yet without definite success. They have just struck a clue, which has resulted in the arrest in Atlanta of Will Ellis, a young white man. Ellis has been adopted by Mrs. Looney, but turned out badly. He had been away for some time, but a man answering his description was seen near the home Saturday. Ellis denies the story.

A Terrible Outrage.

BLOOMFIELD, IND., August 16.—Word has been received here of a most brutal outrage, said to have been committed upon the family of Levi Owen, who lives near Switzer City, in this county. About six or eight hoodlums went to his house Sunday night, forced an entrance and dragged his wife and a twelve-year-old daughter outside, where the females were shockingly assaulted in spite of all efforts of Mr. Owen to protect them. A man named Brown, charged with participating in the outrage, has been arrested and the officers are in pursuit of the others.

A Murderer Lynched.

LOUISVILLE, KY., August 16.—Logan Murphy, desperado and murderer, was hanged near Mt. Sterling this morning by an armed mob of 300 men, who took him from the jail by force. He was taken to a railroad trestle, a rope was placed around his neck and pushed off. In September, 1891, Murphy killed his father near Saylorville because he objected to his cooking a stolen turkey in his house. He was brought here for safe keeping and sentenced to hang on January 8. He was granted a respite. The body, in a plain box, was buried in the old graveyard.
